Chartis named “Best Global Insurance Company” by Euromoney

Paris – June 25, 2010 - Euromoney announced the results of its annual Insurance Survey on 8 June with Chartis named as the winner of the “Best Global Insurance Company” for 2010. In addition Chartis was placed in the top two insurers in every region surveyed and globally in each category of insurance. In Western Europe Chartis was again the best insurer overall and was placed first in three out of the four categories:

- General Property and Casualty
- Director and Officers Liability
- Employer Liability

Nic Walsh, Vice Chairman of Chartis and President and Chief Executive Officer of Chartis International, said: “Chartis is proud of another excellent performance in Euromoney’s 2010 Insurance Survey. Our award as ‘Best Global Insurance Company’ is reflective of our global footprint advantage that allows us to uncover new markets and create products and services that our customers value. It also enables us to deliver to clients a more efficient and service-oriented platform worldwide.”

The Euromoney Insurance Survey, now in its third year, is a global poll canvassing the opinions of decision-makers at large corporate and financial institutions, with 596 responses in over 60 countries. Commenting on the awards, Clive Horwood, Publisher of Euromoney, said: “As the insurance market picks up the pieces from recent troubles in the financial markets, the winners of the 2010 Euromoney Insurance Awards are those that best exhibited the ability focus on the increasingly complex demands of their clients, and respond to the needs of companies operating across a wide range of markets.”
