New York – October 13, 2009 – Chartis today announced the formation of its Global Marine and Energy division's new Logistics Unit, an innovative center of underwriting and service excellence for logistics companies worldwide. The unit will be led by Bryan Rettmann, an insurance industry veteran and logistics expert.

"As today's logistics companies continue to expand their reach and responsibilities around the world, they now have better access to the custom solutions needed for the unique risks they face."
